Civil Rights Hearing A Strong Possibility In Area This Fall

There is little doubt that the Florida Advisory Committee to the U. S. Civil Rights Commission will hold open hearings in the Lake Okechobee area in the Fall, said Dr. Hal G. Lewis, Committee Chairman.

Dr. Lewis, a professor at the University of Florida in the College of Education, is completing his first year as Chairman of the Committee on which he has served for five years.

The Committee will inquire into the state of the civil rights of migrant workers in its fall hearings, Lewis said. "We have just gotten around to the area of migrant workers," Lewis said. To date 15 to 20 hearings have been held around the state investigating other areas of civil rights.

"Committee members are all volunteers with limited time, and the Commission itself is limited in resources," Lewis pointed out. Therefore, he said, the committee has just gotten around to the migrants in its investigations.

The Committee met in a closed session in West Palm Beach two weeks ago. The closed session was, Lewis said, "to see if enough is going on to warrant an open hearing and an effort to ferret out the difference between rumor and fact."

Most of the complaints were in the areas of work and pay where false Social Security and income tax deductions were made, Lewis said. He also said that he had heard complaints about the closed meeting.

The Committee will meet in late July to determine if a public hearing of the Lake Area migrant worker civil rights is necessary, Lewis said. He will meet with other southern state chairmen to arrange a program of public hearings for the south so that the Mid South Field Office of the U. S. Civil Rights Commission will have a coordinated schedule. After this meeting of state heads Lewis will call a meeting of his Florida committee in late July to determine the Lake Okechobee public hearing. However, "the open meeting is almost a certainty," he said.

The Committee's responsibility for inquiry extends to all areas of civil rights guaranteed by the constitution and specific Civil Rights legislation but the committee concentrates in the areas of employment, voting, and some side areas such as discrimination in hospitals and police treatment.

"We can't cover everything," Lewis said. "Employment is crucial. Most people realize that discrimination in federal employment is against the law but few realize that court decisions have extended this to city, county, and state employment practices. If the City of Belle Glade discriminates in hiring, this is an area of the violation of civil rights."

It is this type of thing the public hearing will probe as well as the specific complaint of false deductions of migrant wages.

In the closed hearing of two weeks ago every attempt was made to hear both sides, Lewis said.

Belle Glade representatives testifying were Charles Royal, Rev. Henry E. Green, Rev. Paul Thompson and Police Chief Charles D. Goodlett. Pahokee and other committee representative also testified as well as Civil Rights workers, NAACP workers, representatives of the Florida Migrant Ministry and community aids working with migrants in the Lake area. The names of those testifying were held in confidence of the committee although Dr. Lewis said representatives of the office of Economic Opportunity funded Community Action Fund, the Palm Beach County Community Action Council and the Florida Migrant Ministry were among those offering testimony.

Tri City Lanes Sells Business To Gay Hopkins

Tri City Lanes has sold their bowling business to G. Hopkins, a businessman for many years in the Belle Glade area.

Mr. Hopkins, Gay as he is known by Glades residents, announces that there will be several changes in the procedure of the lanes and better management. He also announces that Donn Eckhoff, prominent in bowling circles and in the bowling business for 24 years, will be the manager and instructor.

Several new leagues, both adult and junior will be formed for the coming season. Anyone wishing to join in the leagues may contact Glades Recreation Center or Donn Eckhoff.

Car Goes Into Canal

Barbara Craft Davis escaped from this car as it went into the canal beside State Rd. 717 in front of Belle Glade High School Saturday about 6:30 p. m. Investigation Patrolman C. T. Lamb said witnesses reported Mrs. Davis crawled from the car and jumped to the canal bank before the car submerged. Damage is total, estimated $1,000.

FHP Auxiliary Earns $200 To Insure Emergency Vehicle

The Florida Highway Patrol Auxiliary gave away three prizes Tuesday ending their fund raising efforts. The $200 profit made this week will be used to purchase insurance for the Auxiliary's emergency vehicle, said Unit Commander, Henry Williams of Pahokee.

The emergency vehicle is powered to reach any emergency area, Williams said. The four wheel drive power wagon carries a generator and additional equipment will be purchased.

John Hadden of South Bay won a salt water rod and reel and an eight cup coffee maker was given Bob Adams of Clewiston. Lawrence Dixon of Pahokee will receive a year's hunting and fishing license.

Auxiliary members from Belle Glade are J. M. Carter, T. E. Hollingsworth, H. C. Lamb, B. B. Ward, B. Williams and G. Wilson. Members from Pahokee are Glenn Brower, A. E. Funderburg, D. G. Hand, L. F. Hand, J. J. McCarty, L. G. Myers, and J. M. Usher. Other members are A. A. Austin from South Bay and L. V. McDelland and J. Winn from Canal Point.

"We are fortunate," Clarke continued, "in obtaining the services of Douglas B. Jones, who for the past three years, was manager of the local office of the Burnett Finance Company; prior to that he was associated with the G. A. C. Finance Company for six years."

Jones has been active in local civic affairs and is the immediate past president of the Belle Glade Jaycees. He is also the current District Secretary for the Florida Jaycees. He is married to the former Mary Jane Erisman of Daytona Beach. They have two children ages five and seven, and reside at 208 N. W. Ave. F. Belle Glade.

Tax Rolls Ordered Revised By Dickinson

Comptroller of Florida Fred O. (Bud) Dickinson, Jr., today notified all county tax assessors to revise their tax rolls to remove assessments on household goods and personal effects.

The bill to abolish the tax was the primary property tax relief measure proposed to the Legislature by the Comptroller. Dickinson said. "I have been assured that this bill, which will correct an inequitable situation and provide relief for property tax owners, will become law," Dickinson said.

The Comptroller added that county savings to the property tax payers of as much as nearly $40 million will be realized by elimination of this tax. Dickinson noted that while there will be large savings in some counties, "the inequity of this tax is reflected in the fact that only negligible amounts have been levied in other counties."

Pool Offers Swimming Lessons

A second series of classes for swimmers will begin Monday at the Belle Glade Municipal Pool.

Registration for the classes for beginners, advanced beginners and intermediates, will be held today and Friday, said Pool Manager, Ralph Carder.

Students with their parents must register in person at the pool.

Classes in Junior and Senior Life Saving will be organized with a meeting at 5 p. m. at the pool today. The book necessary for this course is $1 which is the only cost to the students, Carder said. Junior Life Saving certificates are awarded to students from 12 to 15 years old completing the course and Senior Life Saving certificates can be earned by anyone 16 and up, completing the course and passing a written examination.

With all life guards at the pool completing the Red Cross Water Safety Instructor Course Friday, all swimming classes at the pool will be Red Cross sponsored, Carder announced.

Swimming lessons for adult beginners will also be conducted if enough students register. If interested adults will contact Carder, he said he will arrange a class meeting time to suit the students.

Pool hours will be from 1 to 5 p. m. daily and from 6 to 9 p. m. on Wednesday evenings. Morning pool will be devoted entirely to lessons.

Beginners classes are scheduled for 10 a. m. advanced beginners at 11 a. m., and the intermediate class will be arranged with the students, for the morning hours.

Mental Health Center To Be Constructed

A $1.2 million dollar Community Mental Health Center will be constructed in Palm Beach County, announced Dr. Edward Eissey, chairman of the CMHC board of directors.

"We have received official word from the State Board of Mental Health in Tallahassee that our application for a federal matching grant in the amount of $625,000 has been approved," said Dr. Eissey. "Construction on the center will begin just south of St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach as soon as the final plans are prepared by our architects — Peacock and Lewis and Associates of Palm Beach."

"Our first hurdle is reached," declared Dr. Eissey. "Now we must begin immediately to pay back over a 5 year period, the $400,000 that was loaned to us by the 25 banks in Palm Beach County. The County application for the center, he said, was approved by Tallahassee when the local CMHC board was able to commit a financial commitment of $625,000.

The bill to abolish the tax was the primary property tax relief measure proposed to the Legislature by the Comptroller. Dickinson said. "I have been assured that this bill, which will correct an inequitable situation and provide relief for property tax owners, will become law," Dickinson said.

Senator Thomas Announced Vote Pledges

Senator Jerry Thomas, D-Lake Park, today announced he has sufficient vote pledges from fellow senators to be named president of the Senate in 1971, if re-elected.

Thomas will be the fourth south Florida senator to serve as Senate president since the turn of the century.

Thomas was the only democratic senator to carry a county on the east coast of Florida from St. Johns to Dade County in the 1966 election.

Weaver Works For 4-Laning SR 80

A direct mail campaign, speeches, trip to Tallahassee and Washington are just parts of the Four Lane State Road 80 campaign being carried on by County Commissioner, E. W. "Bud" Weaver.

"It's beginning to bug me, I wake up thinking about it," Weaver said.

Weaver, all in the cause of a Four Lane 80, is not only losing sleep, but blowing up at Commission meetings, signing letters by the hundreds, and talking up a storm.

A straw vote is the latest idea to be put into operation by Weaver. With the blessing of the Tri-County State Road 80 Committee, which he chairs, Weaver is sending out sample post cards to Florida's 15 County Commissions, soliciting their help in distributing the cards for a state wide straw vote on the funding issue and an additional $501 gas tax per gallon to cover the bonds.

Weaver is dedicated to the additional $501 gas tax pledge to repay a state bond issue for critical road construction. This tax would cost each person about $12 a year, Weaver said, assuming a 12,000 mile year, which is the national average, and 10 miles to the gallon in fuel consumption.

"This amounts to buying better roads in small installments everytime you tank up," Weaver said.

In addition, this method would allow the tourist to pay a fair share for better roads. The most important factor from the financial standpoint, he said, would be the high rating such a repayment program would give bonds on the market, allowing for a lower interest rate and easier bond sales. This year the additional gas tax would net $25 million from the present 17 million, in addition to projected population increases.

The large increase in tourists can be partly attributed to Disneyland in Central Florida, and first impact of this attraction being expected in five years, Weaver said.

The post cards, allowing public sentiment to be expressed, will be tabulated, hopefully in Tallahassee. Weaver said he will ask Jay Brown, Chairman of the State Road Board, for permission to have the cards sent to his office where they will be held for tabulation.

The card will state: "We the people, within the boundaries of the State of Florida, (resident and tourist alike) appeal to you to pledge your support to a realistic Road Bond Issue, for the State of Florida, that will assure the traveler the adequate, safe highways to which we are justly entitled."

The card calls for a check if the sender is in favor of the increase in gas tax to be used for the Bond Issue only.

The cards will be distributed courtesy of the Tri-County State Road 80 Committee but local donations will have to be solicited to supplement the expense of the post card and printing, Weaver said.

"This is not a pressure move," Weaver stated. "In fact," he said, "we may even be voted down on the gas tax issue, but it will give resident and tourist alike a voice in the issue."

The bond issue is vital to Florida which is years behind other fast growing states in their road building program. In addition to the straw vote, Weaver, as Chairman of the Tri-County State Road 80 Committee, is writing to all legislators, Road Board members, and interested parties, telling them of the Committee's stand on the road bond issue.

The Tri-County State Road 80 Committee is made up of representatives of Glades, Hendry and Palm Beach Counties interested in a cross state four-lane State Road. The Committee meets as often as is needed in Clewiston, a mid point.

The letter states the committee stand, stating: "The Senate Joint Resolution, proposing a Road Bond issue which would enable our state to assume the responsibility placed upon it for providing adequate highways for our traveling public, is definitely a step in the right direction. Our committee is dedicated to the four-laning of State Road 80, from West Palm Beach to Ft. Myers, but we fully recognize the needs over the entire state and realize that we are not alone in this situation. We ask and encourage you to pledge your support and abilities to a more refined and realistic version of the Bill that would require the following:

"First, a firm program of construction by the State Road Department, ready for public examination, prior to the election in November of this year.

"Second, repayment of the issue by an additional 1c tax on gasoline and fuels, (to be set aside for this purpose ONLY) whereby, resident, tourist and commercial interests would share in the total reimbursement from a revenue source, that would increase each year."

"We are not trying to pressure," Weaver says, "we just want to keep tapping them on the shoulder, letting them know what we need."

Safety For Holidays

Gov. Claude Kirk's "Bring 'Em Back Alive" Campaign worked for the 4th of July, but does not end with the holidays. "Bring 'Em Back Alive" is the watch word for the summer vacation months.

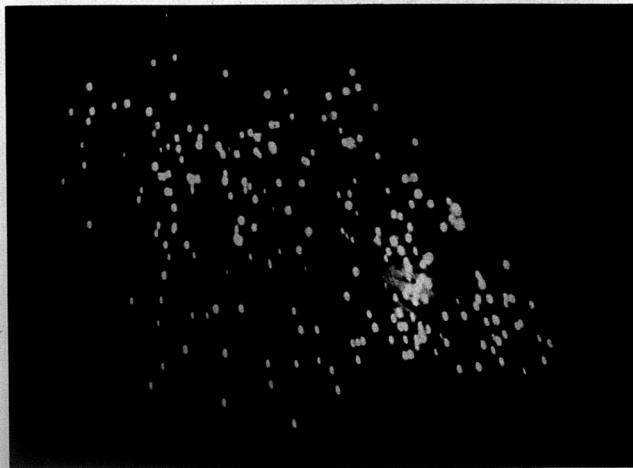

Imitations Is Flattery

Imitation is the sincere form of flattery. The Belle Glade Herald is indeed complimented, the Indianapolis Press in its June 29 issue used our "Waterway Association" plans to use Miss White's map of the recreation areas in connection with an issue about the proposed recreation sites.

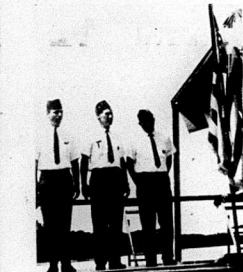

Independence Day - July 4, 1967

The American flag, a symbol of the independence of the United States of America, was carried to the speakers' apostrophe platform to start the July 4 ceremonies in Belle Glade. At the end of the day, the red, white and blue, represented in blazing sparkles, was lit as a finale to the Pahokee fireworks display, and the end of July 4 festivities in the Glades.

Ed Gurney, Republican United States Congressman, spoke to the Belle Glade Marina gathering.

A. T. French Appointed MRI Research Dir.

Appointment of Allison T. French of Frostproof to the new position of director of research has been announced by Management Research Institute, Inc. MRI has been working in the Belle Glade area, with Mr. French for about six months. MRI is a Florida association providing services in industrial relations, personnel, and research to its business and industry members. Founded ten years ago, it has headquarters in West Palm Beach and offices in Tampa and Orlando.

French has had experience in agriculture as operator of a citrus and real estate development business. He also has been a specialist in business insurance with Mutual of New York Life Insurance Company and has had experience in public relations. He has lived in Orlando and West Palm Beach, now making his home in Frostproof with his wife and four children. He attended Washington and Jefferson College and Tulane University.

Americans with names like Annikki/Harju, Sanni Vallila and Delicia Dunbar, whose sister is named Doretta, were among over 100 Scandinavians celebrating the Fourth of July at the Belle Glade Marina.

In the spirit of '76 the Scandinavian Clubs of Miami met here "to renew their oath of allegiance to these united states through the Sound of Freedom Celebration Tuesday."

Edward J. Gurney, Republican United States Congressman, addressed the gathering which included towns people as well as Scandinavian Club members.

The signers of the Declaration of Independence, he said, were not only men who later became famous and legends in American History but included some who lost their homes, families and fortunes for their stand. The revolutionary zeal of these signers as stated by Patrick Henry, "Give me liberty or give me death," has too often today become simply "Give me."

Turning from the history of American Independence to 1967, Gurney called for "a step to game playing in South East Asia."

"The real enemy," he said, "is Russia, make no mistake about it. The United States could stop the war in a few weeks if it were not for Russian armament and support for the North Vietnamese."

"Instead of stopping the war," Gurney said, "our young men are dying at the altar of compromise."

The Marina crowd was estimated at over 800 persons by Assistant Chief of Police D. Bill Mathis who headed a detachment of policemen and Police Auxiliary members maintaining a smooth flow of traffic on the congested island site.

At the Pahokee Marina at least 1,000 cars averaging four passengers each, packed the dike to watch the annual fireworks display courtesy of the Chamber of Commerce, the City, and the Lions Club.

Preparing for the fireworks display Tuesday night are, from L. to R. Charles Jettigan, P. A. Slanaker, Donald Collier, and his son John Rory, Fred Wolfe, and Jack Herlick. Herlick, Chairman of the Pahokee Chamber of Commerce July 4 Committee said that the Pahokee Volunteer Fire Department and Lion's Club had helped with the production as well as Dr. Richard Aimes and Charles Story, not pictured.

EXECUTIVE VICE PRESIDENT

Southern States Industrial Council

AFTER THE SUMMIT

The summit meeting between President Johnson and Premier Kossygin of the Soviet Union already is being hailed by some people as a long step in easing the cold war tensions of recent weeks. This, clearly, is an optimistic view for which there is no real supporting evidence.

It is true, to be sure, that it is better for the two superpowers to talk than to fight. But the American public should not imagine that the full, complete story of the high-level talks in a small New Jersey college town will be revealed. No one can tell what deals or secret understandings may have been arrived at by Messrs. Johnson and Kossygin.

Generally speaking, summit talks have not been good for the United States. President Roosevelt held a summit meeting with Dictator Stalin at Yalta, and the tragedy flowing from that meeting is still affecting the lives of millions of people. Eastern Europe — half of the historic civilization from whence Americans came — was included in the Russian political empire because of Roosevelt's giveaway at Yalta. No doubt Mr. Johnson, who has a reputation as a tough wheeler-dealer, is a much better negotiator than Mr. Roosevelt. Nevertheless, the possibility of secret agreements is frightening. The traditional American position with respect to international agreements is that the U. S. believes in open agreements openly and in public. A summit meeting, however, is a closed meeting. The public statements issued in its wake surely gives no one any information concerning what was discussed or agreed upon.

Another danger of a summit meeting is that it produces in the United States a state of euphoria — a feeling of well-being. That is. Serious conversations between heads of state carry the suggestion of peace. The Russians are anything but reasonable. Communists don't regard negotiations as a series of straightforward discussions but as an opportunity for militant advance toward their goals. Communists, after all, don't even believe in telling the truth. For them, "truth" is simply a handyman of communist interests.

The American people will be wise to bear in mind, in the post-summit era, that the pattern of Soviet behavior is settled. This October, the Soviet Union will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the October revolution. The government of the U. S. is made up of revolutionaries. Kossygin, at age 15, joined the Red Army and fought in the revolution. In the 1930s and 1940s, he was a faithful servant of Dictator Stalin and was made a member of the Communist Party's all-powerful Central Committee.

In short, Kossygin, like the other members of Russia's ruling team remains a dedicated communist warrior against the capitalist world. These men no doubt hope to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the October Revolution with a spectacular military victory over the United States, which is the symbol and heartland of modern capitalism.

American should never forget they live in an era of communist challenge and that the enemy is stern and ruthless. For the last seven years, liberals have been saying that communism has mellowed and that peaceful accommodation should be reached with the Kremlin. The troubles in the Middle East show that the Russian bear is the same as before. The Soviets continue to arm and work for disorder. They still are trying to deny the West the energy resources of the oil-rich Middle Eastern countries.

No, the cold war isn't over. The liberals have been wrong, as usual. From the Middle East to the Far East, the Russians are trying, as Khrushchev said some years ago, to "bury" us. This Soviet goal won't be set aside by some parlor talk in a New Jersey college town or by an exchange of toasts. News of the latest summit should not be allowed, moreover, to deter conservative, realistic citizens from exposing the follies of liberal programs, such as recognition of Red China or trade therewith.

The Russian-inspired conflict in the Middle East should be held up as a true and faithful indication of the real aims and methods of the communists in the seventh decade of the 20th century.

Too Late To Classify

By Russell Kay

The House of Representatives of the 1967 Florida Legislature is giving serious consideration to the traffic explosion and the need for safe and dependable mass transportation. Recently Ron LeVitt, Miami public relations consultant, was appointed special aide to the House Committee on mass transportation.

In a recent report Ron outlines some of the types of mass transportation being considered by the committee as applicable to Florida in establishing a forward looking and practical program for the future.

He envisions high speed trains, similar to those being tested in the east today, operating between Homestead and Jacksonville over Florida East Coast tracks, that could move a large number of commuters rapidly and at the same time remove thousands of cars from our over crowded highways.

Other types of transportation include high speed hydroplanes operating between communities on both the East and West Coast, a monorail train operation along expressways using the median strips, capable of moving thousands of people, faster and safer than now being accomplished by ground motor car transportation.

While these ideas may seem far out or more or less Buck Rogers it nevertheless provides the only answer to our serious traffic and transportation problems.

Are Our Food Reserves Enough?

By Doyle Conner

A recent statement by Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey that food reserves in this country "aren't big enough for a nation at war" brought to mind a quotation from "The Song of the Shirt" by the English poet, Thomas Hood.

"O God that bread should be so dear, and flesh and blood so cheap."

I believe the observation by Mr. Humphrey, made during a speech in Chicago in late May, is an indication that the federal government is awakening to the mounting crisis of a food shortage in the United States.

As I have stated many times, wheat, the staple commodity in most countries throughout the world, is fast coming to the point when it will be in short supply.

The U. S. Agriculture Department's Foreign Agricultural Service has reported that there will be an estimated 400 million bushels of wheat in reserve stocks on hand by July 1. Although this is more than six months' domestic requirements, it does not take into consideration that increasing need of our armed forces now serving overseas, particularly in Vietnam.

The maintenance of adequate stocks of food is of the utmost importance, especially in view of the mounting tension between the countries of the Middle East and in South America, where the commitments through the United Nations to preserve freedom are being tested. The United States is a major supplier of food to these areas.

This testimony by leading members of the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives is, I believe, irrefutable evidence that the United States is moving toward becoming a deficit food-producing nation.

The factors which relate to this country's becoming a deficit food-producing nation are numerous. They hinge on the productive capacity of our farmers, the world population explosion, U. S. foreign policy and on the vagaries of nature.

In an April 20 speech to the Federation of American Societies for Experimental Biology in Chicago, U. S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman stated, "We know that, alone, we cannot feed the world. Alone, we cannot even long stem the tide of hunger."

The United States has been trimming its surplus food reserves since 1961, and these now stand at one less than in our history.

Because there has been less wheat for food aid programs, other grain now is being supplied in place of wheat, so that the food grain requirements of the less developed countries are largely being met.

The food for domestic consumption has been reshaped because there has been a long-standing draw-down in our own domestic surplus stocks.

What are our domestic reserves? In Dade County, for example, food stores maintain only a three-week supply of food. Other metropolitan areas across our nation are in similar circumstances. This is not an adequate supply of food for emergencies.

American agriculture is the greatest marvel in the history of mankind, as far as productivity per capita is concerned. However, I can foresee the time when this productive capacity could be overburdened.

For conflict (and ourselves) faced, in the not too distant future, with the same imbalance of trade which forced England to trade buses to Cuba for sugar.

A food deficit such as that would result in the greatest gold drain on this country that we have ever seen.

FLORIDA GARDENING

BY DR. T. J. SHEEHAN

In many parts of the country, "mums" are associated only with football and the local florist. Floridians—especially avid gardeners—are fortunate enough to be able to include the varied and beautiful chrysanthemum family in home plantings. The extensive color range, type and size of the flowers and growth characteristics tend to increase the popularity of this fine garden subject especially noted for its excellent show of color in the fall months.

Well-drained soil that contains an abundance of organic matter is necessary for growth. A three to four-inch layer of peat or other organic matter should be worked into low organic soils to a depth of six to eight inches when the bed is prepared. Two to three applications of 6-6-6 fertilizer at the rate of one pound per square foot during the growing season is usually sufficient to produce a good crop of flowers in the fall.

Liquid fertilizer also may be used and applied at four-week intervals as recommended. It is best to keep the material off the foliage when applying fertilizer to prevent burning the plant.

Chrysanthemums are propagated by cuttings, offsets or division of the old parent stock. Tip cuttings of new growth of the parent stock are best since many of the disease pests of chrysanthemums overwinter on the parent clumps.

For mass effect, space rooted cuttings or offsets 12x16 inches. For individual plant effect space cuttings 18x24 inches. In dividing parent clumps, the plants should be dug in early spring. They can be separated into as many parts as there are vigorous rooted shoots.

Support may be necessary for chrysanthemums whether grown in beds or as specimen plants. Plants grown in a bed can be held upright by running wires lengthwise and strings crosswise in the beds at eight inch intervals. A stake should be placed close to individual plants at the time of planting. Roots are often injured when stakes are driven into the ground near the plant after it is established.

After the plants have grown six to eight inches tall, about 1/2 of the stem or "break" should be removed, leaving three sets of leaves. When the lateral breaks are six to eight inches long, they too can be pinched, thus building a good bushy plant. The final pinch should be made between August 1 and 15. Later pinching will remove flower buds and produce an undesirable spray of flowers.

More information on chrysanthemum culture can be found in Agricultural Extension Service Circular 1828, available at any county Extension office.

Where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty. —II Corinthians 3:17

WHILE attending summer camp for two weeks last year as a national guard army chaplain, I had the opportunity to view a motion picture at a post theater. It was a meaningful experience for me to see everyone rise as the national anthem was being played, as is the custom in many countries.

How easy it is for us to take for granted all that we have come to love and know is good, to assume as imperishable the liberty and freedom we have!

All men everywhere seem to be hungering for freedom, but man is free only as his life becomes personally related to Christ. Almighty God Himself grants that trust freedom to all His sons and daughters made free in Jesus Christ. In Him, our living Lord, we behold liberty at its finest, and through Him find freedom of the highest order for ourselves.

*PRAYER: Eternal God, teach us to come into Thy presence with a feeling of deep reverence. We humbly bow before Thee, grateful for the blessing of freedom and especially for our liberty in Christ, whose prayer we pray, as He taught us, "Our Father who art in heaven. . . Amen."

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

Freedom is not complete unless we live in the spirit of the Lord.

What Should A Father Tell His Daughter About Drinking?

By Lewis Llewellyn

"But, Daddy, if I don't drink they'll think I'm no where."

A teen-aged girl is pictured beneath this headline in an advertisement by the distiller of a widely-sold brand of whiskey.

Under the picture is the question, "Now, Dad, what do you say to that?"

This is a real problem in many American homes, where parents want the best for their children, but the children have not yet found the answers to all of the perplexing questions that face them.

DANGEROUS

Fathers know that it is exceedingly dangerous for their teen-age daughters to have their wits and their moral sensitivities dulled by alcohol, with many unscrupulous males around to take advantage of them in any time of weakness.

What should a father tell his daughter when she asks this question?

Each father must determine this for himself, but here's a suggestion.

"Well, darling, you know that in this family we don't drink alcoholic beverages.

We've seen too much of the results of drinking — in broken homes, heartache, grief, and disaster caused by alcohol — and we don't want to have any part of it.

"As to what people will think, you know that the people you love and respect most of you for having the courage of your convictions. What the others think doesn't matter.

"There will always be those who will put pressure on you to conform to their ideas of what you should do — sometimes for their own selfish ends. Disregard their advice when it conflicts with what you know is right. Never yield to social pressure when it goes against your conscience."

EXAMPLE IMPORTANT

We suggest that this advice, when backed up by the kind of example which a father should be setting for his children, will be effective. The children will know that it takes backbone to hold to their own principles when those around them do not adhere to the same code. But it will pay.

One day, I asked a friend of mine who is a heavy drinker — and who has had to suffer the consequences — what effect he thought this would have on his children. His reply startled me.

"I don't believe they'll touch a drop," he said. "We tell them, 'Don't do as we do. Do as we tell you.'"

Isn't this the kind of example you are setting?

The Bible says, "Wine is a mocker. Strong drink is raging, and whoever is deceived thereby is not wise."

Don't let alcohol fool you into believing that it is good for you. It promises fun and delivers misery. Teen-age girls are among its favorite victims, but it destroys those of any age and either sex whom it can lure to their doom.

Henry To Be Guest Speaker For Methodist

Dr. Harry S. Henry of Lake Worth will be guest minister at Community Methodist Church Sunday, July 9, in the absence of the Rev. Henry G. Galloway, who with Mrs. Galloway is attending the Lake Junaluska Southeastern Jurisdictional Family Life Convention being held July 5-9 at Lake Junaluska, N. C.

Dr. Henry's message at the Sunday morning service will be "The Holy Spirit Our Need." The evening service topic will be "The Quest for Happiness."

Rev. Galloway will return July 11 and will bring the message for the coming Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fleming have gone to the music conference at Ridgecrest, N. C., for a week and will also take a week's vacation on its conclusion. Mr. Fleming is minister of education and music at First Baptist Church.

Rainbow To Speak

WEST PALM BEACH — Officials with the Watchtower Convention in West Palm Beach have announced that Mr. Jean C. Rainbow, presiding minister of the Belle Glade Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, is one of the featured speakers at a four-day district convention, July 6-9.

Rainbow will review the topic, "Bible Questions Answered," Sunday at 11:05 a. m. He will discuss the most frequently asked questions of Bible students and analyze their practical application in modern times.

THE BIG SWITCH

E. W. Hooper, convention manager, said construction delays cancelled prospective use of the new four-million dollar auditorium. Sessions are scheduled for the Palm Beach Kennel Club with a Spanish-language assembly at the Music Center, a theatre-in-the-round.

"We were disappointed by the cancellation," Hooper said, "but not discouraged. We have completed arrangements for seating seven thousand delegates at the dog track and to thousands persons at the Music Center. Our plans are right on schedule."

Hooper said the convention program will run simultaneously in English and Spanish at the two sites. Reservations have been made for delegates from 26 states and six foreign lands including the Bahamas, Jamaica, Puerto Rico, El Salvador, Dominican Republic and Canada. All hotels and rooming houses are booked solid from Riviera Beach to Boynton Beach.

LOCAL REPRESENTATION

Rainbow said 35 delegates will represent the Belle Glade congregation at the convention.

"The program is designed to acquaint us with the serious conditions facing this generation," Rainbow said, "but with the objective of doing something about the situation. It is to be 'The Holy Spirit, Our Power.' A passive faith and point out the importance of accepting our Christian responsibility to help others do the same."

"Bible lectures, dramas, symposiums and practical teaching demonstrations will illustrate how each one of us can share in the work of helping others see the importance of God's word, the Bible, in their lives."

CONVENTION HIGHLIGHTS

Highlights include a baptism service Friday morning and the featured public address, "Receiving a Great Crowd of Mankind Out of Armageddon," by H. A. Cantwell of Miami.

George L. Hewitt, who serves the Belle Glade congregation as circuit supervisor, is the permanent chairman. He will deliver the address of welcome today set to kick-off the convention program that will feature morning, afternoon and evening sessions.

Boy, 5, Has Open Heart Surgery

BY SHEILA ISBEL

Jimmy's OK!
Jimmy is a five-year-old who underwent open-heart surgery last week. Jimmy and his parents, the William Blink's of Pahokee, travelled to New York where the operation was performed by Dr. Robert Lik, chief surgeon of Mt. Sinai's division of cardiology.

"It was completely successful," Jimmy's father reports.

"Jimmy had about a 30-50 chance for complete correction and he came through by prayers," his father said.

The five-year-old boy was born with blockage in his pulmonary artery, restricting the flow of blood from his heart, and a hole in the valve between his right and left ventricle.

Jimmy's parents suspected something wrong with their son shortly before he was born, when the attending obstetrician noticed a skipping in the baby's heartbeat. Later they were more certain — Jimmy stopped breathing and turned blue. He was less than a week old.

Despite their suspicions, Mr. and Mrs. Blink were not told of Jimmy's heart defect until he was about a month old. Afterward, arrangements were made to keep close watch on him. At Children's Cardiac Hospital, Miami, Jimmy was given angiograms periodically to check his blood vessels, and a routine check-up every month. Complete reports were kept by Children's Cardiac and a copy was sent to Dr. Lik in New York.

When Jimmy was 7 months old, a 9-hour "shunt" operation was performed on him at Children's Cardiac Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Moore and family were called to Georgia by the illness of his brother last week. They plan to vacation for another week in Atlanta Ga., and vicinity.

Mrs. Ray Urry, will accompany her daughter Pam on her Florida Rainbow tour. They will leave on July 29, and will return on July 29.

from Children's Cardiac Hospital and will finish his 2-3 month recuperation at home.

"When Jimmy starts first grade in September, he may have to take it easy," his father said, "but he will soon be able to play like any other normal youngster."
